A Pillar of Community & Devotion:

A tribute to the life and legacy of Elizabeth A. 'Betty' Alessandrini

The Yankee Security Convention is marking the passing of long-term Director Betty Alessandrini. Betty passed away March 5th in Medford, Massachusetts.

Betty's obituary states that she was a hard worker. That doesn't begin to describe the contribution Betty made to Yankee. For over 25 years of service, Betty was the organizing force for the Convention. She managed the registration process, first with manual systems then converting to computerized systems. She enrolled students in classes, managed payments, printed badges, and organized file bins that made the check-in process run smoothly.

Many security professionals who attended Yankee knew Betty and looked forward to saying hello each year. She spent most of the Convention days at the registration desk handling questions, walk-in registrations, and special requests. When things slowed down at the desk, she and Lew would usually take a walk around the trade show floor to greet people. Betty was a most vital part of the entire Yankee Security Convention organization.

The Board of Directors sends our condolences to Lew and the Alessandrini family, including those family members who helped support the organization in many functions. We thank Betty and Lew for being the backbone of our organization for decades and honor Betty's service to the Yankee Security Convention.

She will be deeply missed.
